

E / Why are stereotypes so popular ?

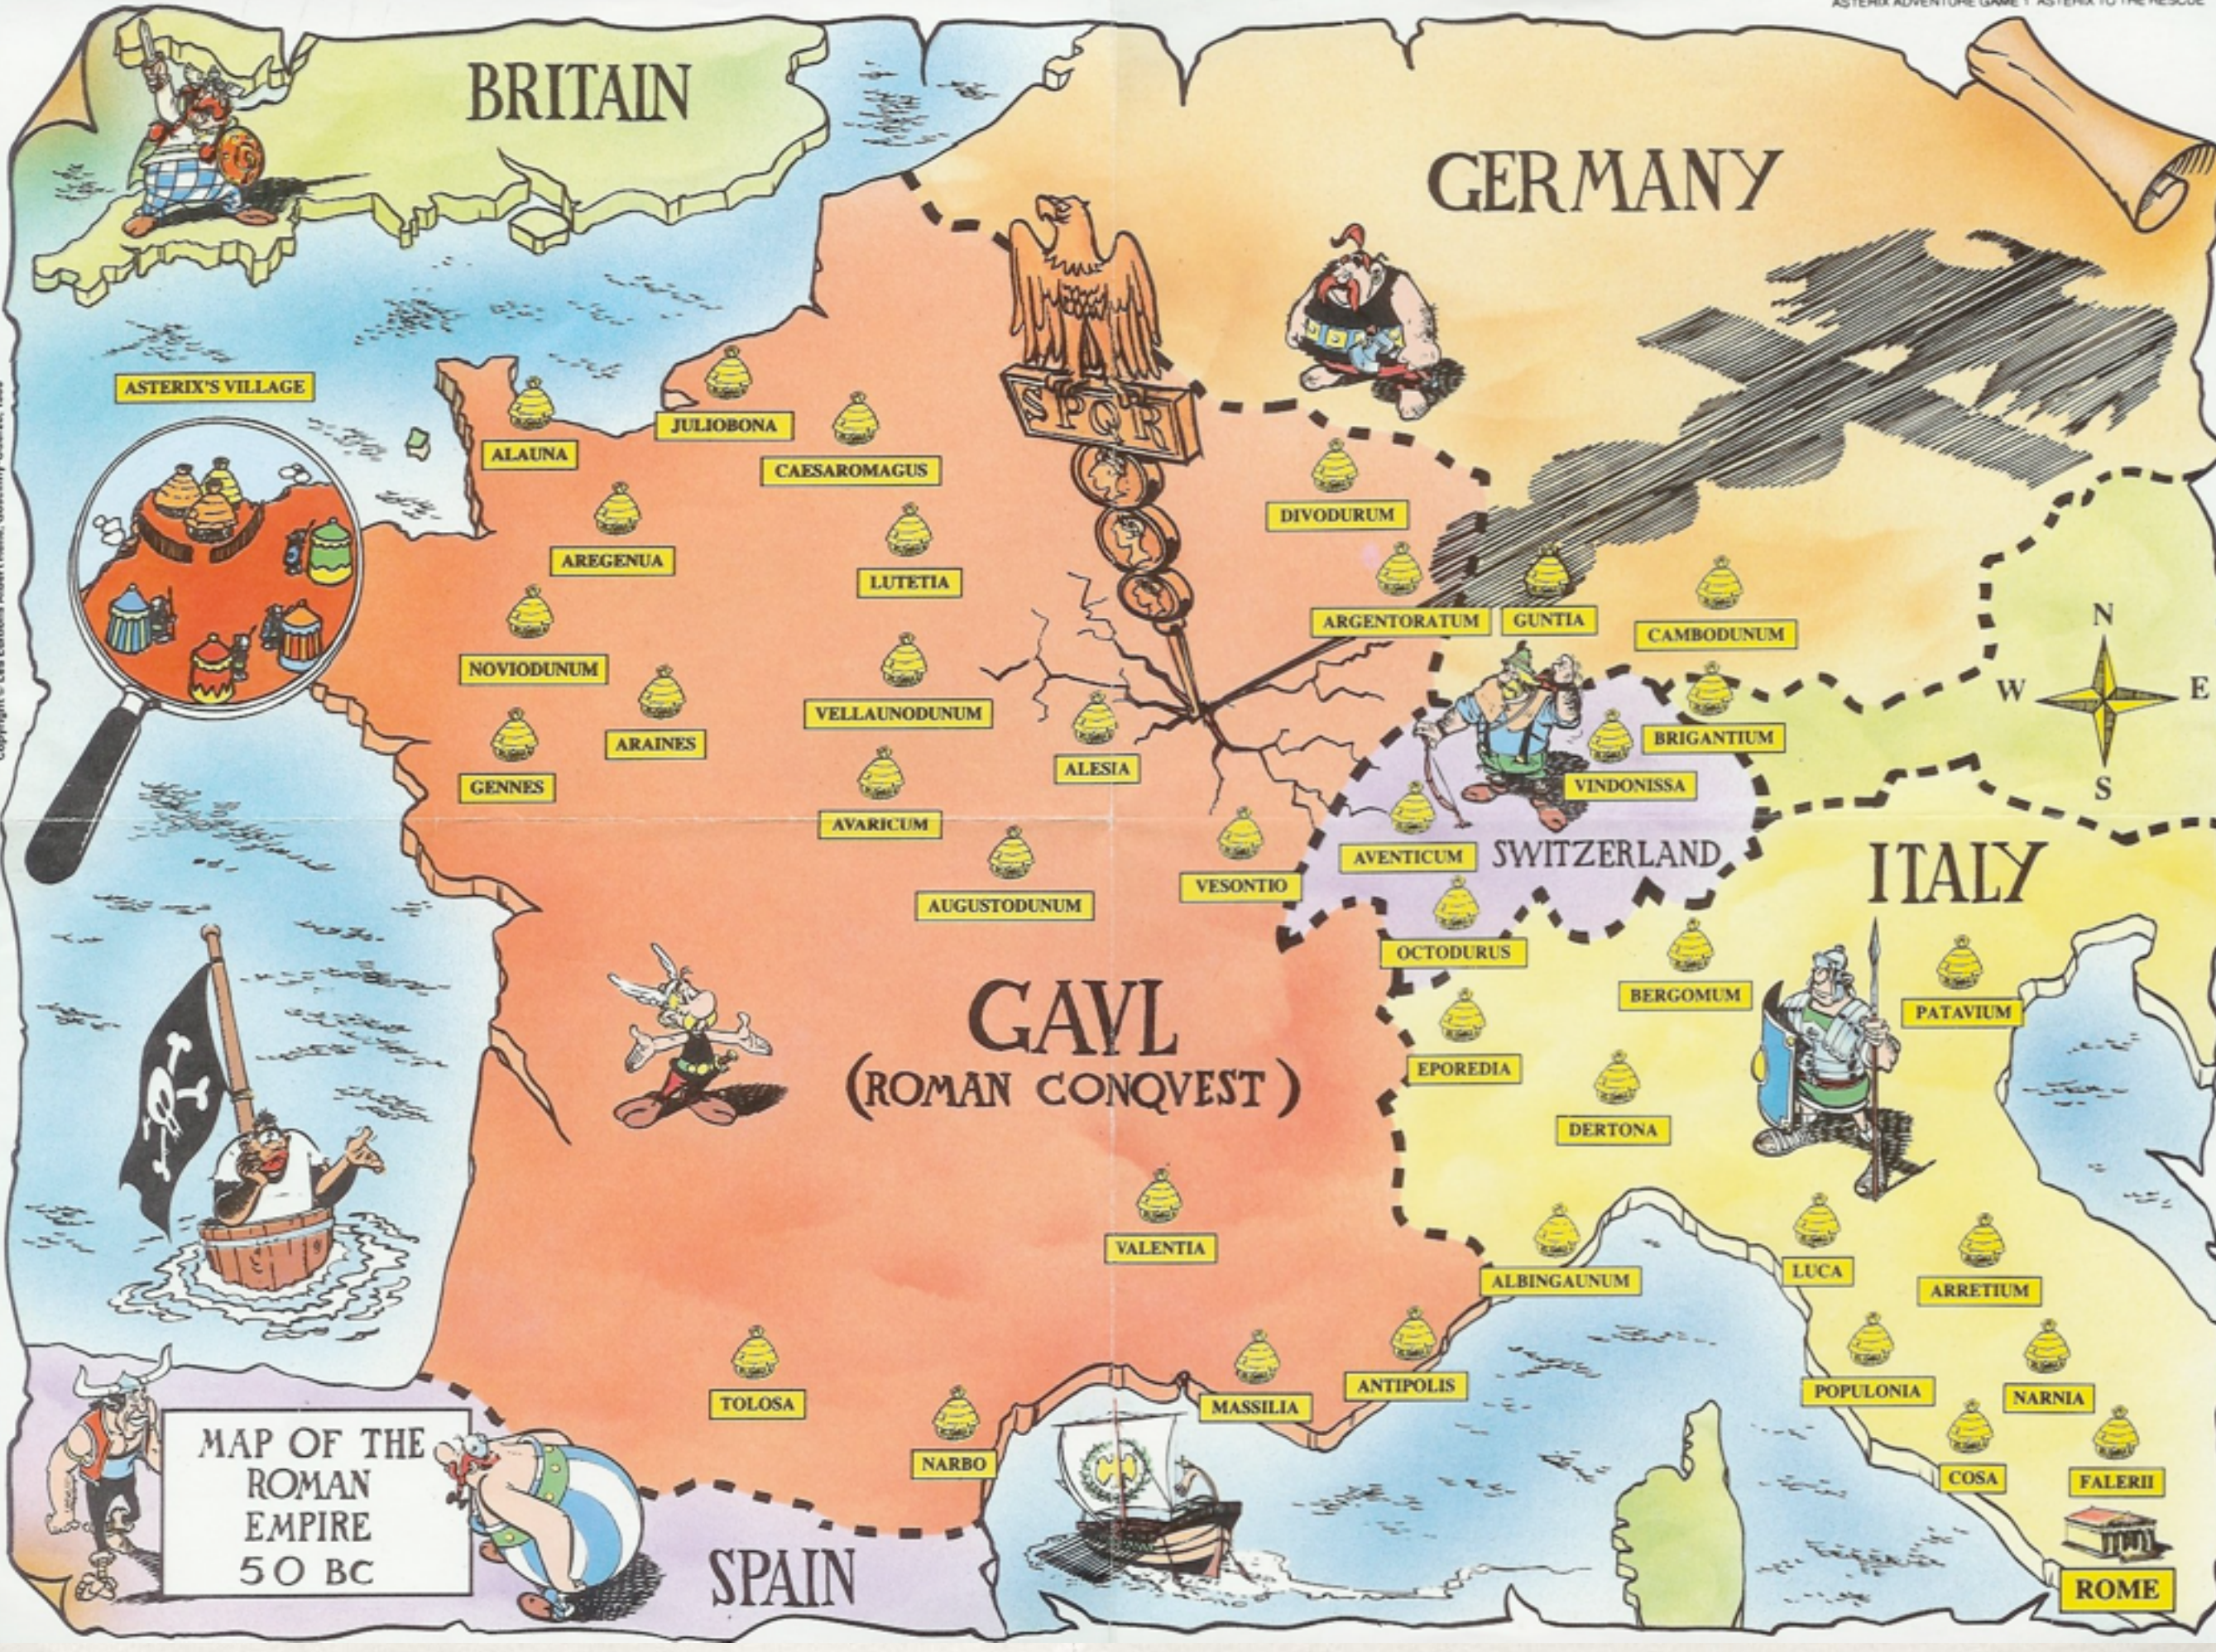

Most of you must have heard of Asterix. A whole exhibition was devoted to the comic strip, its characters and its author at the National Library in Paris.

Here are some selected pages.

In groups of 4 , define the common point between all these illustrations, explain which ideas they convey....

Then imagine you are a journalist writing an article about the exhibition (alternatively, you can also give an interview in which you express your point of view and justify it)
